Leslie B. Larson, 4, Struck by Car, Killed At Russell Yesterday

Antioch Rescue Squad Find Youth Lifeless on Arrival

Leslie B. Larson, Jr., aged 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie B. Larson of Russell rd. one mile east of Rte. 41, was killed instantly about 11 a. m. yesterday when he was struck by an automobile driven by Charles D. Neahous, 16, of Russell.

The accident occurred near the Larson home when the child followed two older boys across the road and seeing the eastbound car coming, turned back so that the left front of the car struck him. The Antioch rescue squad was called, but found the boy lifeless.

Neahous told sheriff's deputies he slowed down when he saw the two older boys cross the road and then pulled over to the side watching them as he tried to avoid the Larson child. As he neared, the little boy darted back in his path.

Gary Daisy, 8, one of the older boys who lives on Glead ave. in Zion, was too shocked to give any details.

Neahous was not held.

The Larson child was taken to the Congdon Funeral home in Zion.

Leslie Jr. was born Oct. 1, 1948 in Oakland, Calif., while his father was serving in the armed forces. He is survived by his parents, a sister, Diane, 2, and a brother, Robert, aged 11 months. The paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Larson, live at Russell.

It was the twenty-ninth traffic fatality for Lake county this year.

Elected with him were Dan Lightsey, senior vice commander; John Horan, Jr., junior vice commander; Benjamin F. Miller, finance officer; Harold Christensen, chaplain; and Robert Hanson, sergeant-at-arms.

The installation date has not been set, awaiting a possible joint installation with the Legion Auxiliary.

Heat Wave Last Week Shoots Mercury to 96 For Probable Record

What may have been a heat record for the date was reached last Friday in Antioch when the mercury climbed to 96.5 degrees and on Saturday returned to 96 degrees, according to the government thermometer read daily by Postmaster Roy Kufalk.

Cooling breezes dropped the temperature a subnormal of 73 degrees Tuesday and a low the night before of 57 degrees. Yesterday the maximum temperature was a normal at 85 degrees and the minimum was 67.

The moisture of two weeks ago coupled with the hot weather was good for growing corn, and some of it already nearly knee high, the ideal growth expected by July 4.

Small grain is beginning to turn and should ripen in the next 10 days or two weeks.

Moose Play Wauconda, League Leaders, Here And at Spring Grove

The third place Antioch Moose baseball team will play the league leading Wauconda team tomorrow evening at Spring Grove and again Tuesday night at the high school field here.

These two games might well be the best so far this season because of the closeness in the Chain O' Lakes league standing.

The Moose lost one game to Wauconda and won another from Ringwood during the past week.

Announcement was made that the local team will give a baseball dance Saturday night at the Moose lodge hall to which the public is invited.

Officials of the P. T. A. promoting the eight-week course are pleased over the large enrollment.

When the children first appeared Monday, they were divided into groups according to ability and with them divided into the three classes better instruction can be given.

Polo Supremacy Eyed In Match Next Sunday At Arlington Farms

Chicagoland polo supremacy will be at stake when the Oak Brook Polo club of Hinsdale invades the Arlington Farms CYO polo field, Buckley road, near Rte. 63, for an International Polo League game with the Arlington Farms quartet.

Action on the judgments will be taken in the county or circuit court.

Chicago Youth Drowns In Miltimore Lake At Venetian Village

Antioch Rescue Squad Locates Body After Other Attempts Fail

A 14-year-old Chicago boy was drowned at 3 p. m. yesterday in Miltimore lake, Venetian Village, just a short distance from where a Red Cross representative was conducting a class in swimming.

The youth, Leonard Pallateri, son of Dr. and Mrs. Nino Pallateri of 1128 N. Latrobe st., Chicago, was a poor swimmer and went down in 10 feet of water while trying to make his way to shore with two companions, Bob Donella, 13, and Len Culikarion, also of Chicago.

The swimming instructor rushed to the place where the boy went down, but because of the muddy condition of the water, could not find him.

The Antioch Rescue Squad used a grappling hook and found the body at 3:20 p. m., but the boy had been in the water too long to be revived.

The Pallateris are building a home at Venetian Village and the boy and his companions came out from Chicago with his parents. His is the seventh drowning in Lake county this year.

Surviving are the parents, a sister, Florence, and two brothers, Joseph and Nino, Jr.

The body was taken to Chicago for burial.

Village, High School Boards Discuss New Road For Properties

Both Want Outlet to Route 173; School Considers Athletic Field

The village board met last evening with the board of education of the Antioch Township High school in discussing the future possibility of a roadway that would extend through their properties east of the Soo Line track to Rte. 173.

The high school district owns 10 acres of land south of the land owned by the village and both are considering a roadway that would give both access to the state highway.

The board of education is considering the development of the land east of the railroad for an athletic field. It is used now only as a baseball diamond, and access to it is over an unprotected path from the driveway of the main school grounds.

Since the addition has been built to the high school the ground for track has become crowded and the tennis courts were eliminated altogether.

Village board members told the school board that they are not insisting on any location for the proposed new roadway.

"The Voice of the Book"

Scores of thousands of Americans die each year in accidents. Hundreds of thousands are seriously injured. Accidents take a ghastly toll in human misery—and a tremendous economic toll as well.

A notable contribution to accident prevention has been made by the Association of American Railroads, in a motion picture entitled "The Voice of the Book." While the film is primarily intended for railroad personnel and their families, it is equally appropriate for use among schools, civic groups and general audiences. It is based on principles which are fundamental to the achievement of greater safety in any walk of life.

Moreover, the film is as interesting as it is educational. It is a tale of warm human interest, in which a young man is torn between his love for the railroad and the girl he hopes to marry. His problem is happily solved as he listens to an inspirational message about safety delivered to a high school graduating class by his uncle, a retired railroad man who has devoted his life to helping others live safely.

Further information about the film may be obtained from the Safety Section, Association of American Railroads, 59 E. Van Buren St., Chicago, Ill.

A Tax-Saving Opportunity

A large amount of additional water is now available for hydroelectric development at Niagara Falls as a result of a change in an American-Canadian treaty. The needed development will cost close to $400,000,000. Congress must decide whether it shall be conducted by regulated, taxpaying, private enterprise—or on a socialized, tax-subsidized basis by government.

A spokesman for five major electric companies recently appeared before a joint hearing of the Senate and House Public Works Committee and presented the case for private enterprise. Here is a summary of his principal points:

1. The Niagara project is not a multiple-purpose project, involving reclamation or flood control. It is solely a power project.

2. The five-company group is "ready, willing and able" to undertake the program. The scenic beauty of the Falls is to be preserved.

3. Construction by the five companies would not involve the use of any public funds. It would yield upwards of $23,000,000 a year in new taxes—in addition to the $170,000,000 in taxes the companies now pay to local, state and federal governments.

4. The investor-owned companies would make no money on the water itself. They would earn a return only on their investment in physical facilities.

5. Government power development at Niagara is "wholly unjustified."

Private enterprise can take on the biggest conceivable power-producing jobs—we don't need socialism in the field of power development any more than we need it in farming, manufacturing, retailing, newspaper publishing or anything else. A tax-saving bill to authorize the five utilities to go ahead at Niagara is now in Congress.

The Bell is Tolling

Many of us remember the days of the big-city political bosses, the big industrial bosses, and the big financial bosses. Now we have the big bosses of labor.

Whenever bosses became so powerful and venal that they rode roughshod over the general welfare, their dictatorial powers were curbed by law except in the case of the labor bosses. And these labor bosses have not seemed to profit by the history of boss elimination. Not satisfied with using their powers to improve labor's wages and working conditions, they are following the pattern that eventually dooms all bosses and dictators, namely, a "public be damned" attitude to gain their ends—as witnessed in the paralyzing steel strikes, coal strikes, railroad strikes, public utility strikes and maritime strikes.

The same urge to safeguard the public interest that brought about anti-trust laws, "blue sky" laws, public regulation of utilities and similar legislation, is going to bring about stiff curbs on labor bosses and their activities. The people have been long-suffering, but you can see the worm turning in the passage of state laws against labor excesses and in court decisions upholding them.

No group or combination can be allowed to take a "public be damned" attitude in this country. The bell is tolling now for the labor bosses.

● This advertisement is the third in a special series which began over a year ago, and which is designed to give you, as a prospective buyer, detailed and helpful information. We'd be happy to have your comments about this type of advertising.

This is the 1953 Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. It's one of 16 Chevrolet models in 3 series, which add up to the widest choice in the low-price field.

Some Chevrolet advantages worth considering when you're ready to choose a car...

Next to a new house, a car is probably your most important purchase. Here are some facts to help you make up your mind about which make to buy.

Don't you agree that it's well worthwhile to weigh all the factors carefully before you buy any new car? Let's consider the major reasons why people choose one make over another and see how the 1953 Chevrolet stands in those respects.

Styling You Can Stay Proud Of

Styling, of course, is a matter of personal taste. Because we think Chevrolet is the best-looking car in its field, doesn't necessarily mean you'll think so, too. But we can tell you that the majority of our showroom visitors prefer Chevrolet styling and compare its appearance most favorably with cars costing a great deal more.

And you might consider this: Chevrolet styling is the newest in its field. It's the kind of styling that stays new, too. For it is based, not on fads or extremes, but on the fundamentals of good, modern design.

The One Automobile Body Almost Everybody Knows

It's not really surprising that so many people prefer Chevrolet's appearance. For Chevrolet is the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. And Fisher, as you know, is the only automobile body manufacturer with a world-wide reputation for styling, craftsmanship and quality.

The Many Benefits of High-Compression Power

When you drive a new Chevrolet (and we hope you'll do that soon), you'll notice these things: faster acceleration from a standing start; greater passing ability in traffic and on the highway; the new ease with which you climb steep hills.

These are just some of the benefits of Chevrolet's new high-compression power. In gearshift models, there is an advanced 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine with a 7.1 to 1 compression ratio. Teamed with the new Powerglide automatic transmission* is an entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine with 7.5 to 1 compression ratio. It is the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field.

A Great Gain in Gasoline Economy

Along with remarkable new performance, Chevrolet's advanced engines give you far greater gasoline mileage. In fact, this year marks the most important gain in economy in Chevrolet history. And that includes substantial savings on over-all upkeep, as well as on gasoline.

New Getaway in the New Powerglide*

The new Powerglide automatically drops into "Low" range for starting and for passing in city traffic. Then, as you glide along, it slips smoothly and almost imperceptibly into cruising range. The results are much faster and more positive acceleration, and much lower fuel consumption.

The First Power Steering in a Low-Priced Car

This year's Chevrolet is the only car in its field to offer you the extra ease and convenience of Power Steering, optional at extra cost. With it, you can spin the wheel with the strength of one finger. You can see saw in and out of tight parking places without the slightest strain. You get an additional cushion against road shocks and jars. Driving is easier, safer.

A Smoother and a Safer Ride

Chevrolet is the heaviest low-priced car. Model for model, a Chevrolet will weigh as much as 200 pounds more than the other makes. You often hear people say they buy high-priced cars because they're heavier, hold the road better and ride better. Well, isn't it logical, then, that Chevrolet's extra weight (which comes from extra strength of body and frame) would result in a better ride?

Chevrolet is the Lowest-Priced Line

Certainly, price is one of the most important factors of all. We're glad to be able to tell you that Chevrolet is the lowest-priced line in its field.

Now, you might well ask, "How can Chevrolet offer me more and still cost less?" There is a simple, logical answer to that.

Remember that Chevrolet builds more cars than any other manufacturer. Chevrolet, along with General Motors, has greater facilities for research, for engineering and production. So, isn't it reasonable that these greater facilities bring manufacturing advantages and economies which Chevrolet can pass on to you in terms of higher quality at lower price?

An Endorsement Given No Other Car

Again this year, more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. Obviously that wouldn't be true unless people liked Chevrolet better. Unless Chevrolet offered more things people want—more value.

So, when you're ready to choose your new car, wouldn't you agree that Chevrolet merits your careful consideration? We welcome your visit at any time, so that you can look the car over yourself and try it out on the road.

*Combination of 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine and Powerglide automatic transmission optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

It was an important but unheralded June day. The first Bell Telephone exchange in Illinois was opened in Chicago at La Salle Street, north of Madison. "Mr. Smith" had one of the 75 newfangled Bell telephones in his office. To place a call required about six complicated operations and as long as twenty minutes. And if "Mr. Smith" were in a hurry, chances were the boy operators would tell him to "hold his horses." The boy operators weren't as courteous as today's "voices with a smile." Of course, "Mr. Smith" couldn't call "long distance."

1953

This week marks the 75th anniversary of Bell Telephone in Illinois. "Mrs. Smith" of 1953 calls her husband to tell him Junior wants to take his "hot rod" to school. Her local calls go through in an average of 25 seconds. And, no distance is "too long" now. She can reach millions of telephones most anywhere in the world, including phones in autos, trains, airplanes and ships. "The Smiths" take their phone for granted—a part of their everyday living.

What kind of telephone service will you and "the Smiths" have in coming years? This we can promise—telephone people, never satisfied with just good service, will continually try to make it better as the tempo of American life requires. In a few years, new equipment will make it possible for you to dial across the nation as easily as you now call across the street. Bell Telephone Laboratories has opened new fields with its transistor, the "mighty midget" of electronics. Many are the communications wonders "on order" for tomorrow's better telephone service for your community, for Illinois, and for the nation.

Kings and Queens Entertain

The hostess who is casting about for something original for an after-bridge buffet might well take her cue from the June coronation of Elizabeth II, creating a simple, but dramatic setting such as this, with Coronation the basic theme.

Sprightly tulips, in a mug designed by Josiah Wedgwood in honor of the Coronation, form the centerpiece and, of course, Coronation silverware, so appropriate with its sculptured tulip motif, carried out in fluted lines and pierced detail.

There are kings and queens at this table, as there will be at Elizabeth's; in this case, ordinary playing cards, effectively spread against the nubby texture of the cloth. Creamy white Wedgwood coffee cups complete the service.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Traffic conditions in our cities are becoming more and more congested all the time, but some drivers who complain loudly about it are the very ones who contribute most to it.

One of the worst of the offenders is the supremely self-centered individual who double parks his car on a busy street. In the first place, double parking is against the law (Section 90a (12), Uniform Act Regulating Traffic), but it is also one of the most inconsiderate acts a driver can do.

All other traffic going the same direction must swing around that car, sometimes having to move into the opposite traffic lane to do it. Occasionally, the double parked car completely halts all traffic attempting to move the same direction. There is danger of a crash to the double parked car, to the one trying to pass it and to approaching vehicles.

Yes, parking places are frequently difficult to find. But the time spent finding one may save you a traffic ticket or a smashed fender, or both.

School vacations have started in the last couple of weeks, and the problem of watching out for children when driving a car becomes a more acute one.

During school days, drivers can feel that there are certain hours of the day when most children will be safely behind the doors of classrooms, but during vacation periods, they may jump out in front of your car at any time. You, the driver, must be just that much more careful.

Children are carefree all the time, but particularly so during vacations. With no thoughts of lessons or teachers to concern them, they are concentrating on the serious business of just enjoying themselves, and Space Cadet, the Cisco Kid or Buck Rogers don't have time to think about automobiles and traffic.

You will have to do all the thinking. You will have to be ready at all times to stop abruptly somewhere between Venus and Mars while the Rocket Ship goes by or somewhere near third base while 1953's Babe Ruth dashes for home plate.

Miss Naomi Meiners, Forreston, Ill., former Antioch High school teacher, writes that she is leaving Forreston for New York, where she will attend Columbia University for the summer.

Draft - eligible Men May Start Training At Once--Holbrook

Draft-eligible men in the Antioch area are reminded today they can start working off required military service obligations before they are called for active duty under Selective Service.

"Youths may now start fulfilling their eight-year military service obligations, which are required by the Universal Military Training and Service Act, as soon as they reach their 17th birthdays," reported Major John S. Holbrook, Officer in Charge of the Waukegan Detachment of the Army Reserve.

Major Holbrook pointed out that draft-eligible youths may accumulate military service by joining an organized reserve unit and added that membership in such a unit prior to induction offered these advantages:

1. Men will get an earlier start on fulfilling their military service obligations, and thus complete them earlier.
2. They will get military experience and a taste of military life, while remaining at home and attending school or working at their normal jobs.
3. By accumulating service time in the organized Army Reserve, they will be less liable for recall to active duty in case of future, national emergency.
4. Reservists can choose their preferred branch and enter service in that branch in their attained Reserve grade prior to being inducted through the Selective Service system.

Present laws, said Holbrook, require eight years' obligated service from all men who enter military service, whether they are inducted, enlist in the regulars, or volunteer through the Army Reserve program. Presently these eight years are being spent partly on active duty, and the remainder of the term in an inactive duty (Active Reserve) status.

However, there are two major classifications under which men can serve out inactive duty time—the Ready Reserve and the Stand-by Reserve. Veterans in the Stand-by Reserve can be called only in the event of all-out war declared by Congress, whereas the Ready Reserve can be called, regardless of prior service, for any emergency declared by the President.

"The best way for veterans to win transfer from the Ready Reserve to the Stand-by Reserve is through membership in an organized Army Reserve unit," the Army Reserve officer pointed out.

Major Holbrook said, for example, a 17-year-old youth could join one of his army reserve units now and be free of all military service obligations by the time he is 25 years old. Furthermore, if this recruit maintained membership in the Reserve unit until he goes on active duty, and then affiliates with a Reserve unit for a time after his discharge from active duty, the last three years of his military service time could be spent in the Stand-by Reserve. He could return to school, start a business or a career, or get married, secure in the knowledge that he would never again be called for active duty unless the nation became involved in an all-out war. "That's why every young man who wants to plan his future without worrying about his liability for recall to military service should join an organized Reserve unit," he added.

Units available in this area include a Divisional band, a headquarters company of an infantry battalion, a rifle company, and a Spanish translator detachment.

German-New Zealander Will Wrestle Tomorrow At Round Lake Park

A notorious guy from Germany called Hans Schmidt will feature the next grappling shindig at Lake County Stadium in Round Lake Park, Friday night. He'll face Pat O'Connor of New Zealand in a 60 minute or two of three falls encounter.

Chances are, some pandemonium will reign before it's over. Schmidt has created near mob scenes since coming here 7 years ago, a protégé of the infamous Hans Hermann. He has used a back-breaker weapon to hospitalize more than a dozen men throughout the country. Almost every object that fans can smuggle into an arena has been thrown at Schmidt.

The German weighs 240 pounds and stands six-four. Away from the ring, he drives a luxurious trailer and watches cowboy movies constantly. He says that "Wrestling's a tough business and I must defend myself. I can't turn my matches into ballroom dances. But the fans won't understand."

O'Connor is a 230 pound import who was a rugby and rowing star back near Wellington, N. Z., where his family owns a 7000 acre sheep ranch. The dropkick and airplane spin are spectacular holds by which the Irishman has drawn a big following here. He once held the British Empire title.

Rounding out Friday's card will be two other bouts. In a tag match, the Great Yamato, a Jap judo expert, will team with big-chested Reggie Lisowski of Wisconsin against Carl Engstrom of Chicago and Billy Goetz of Fox Lake, Ill., the Midwest junior heavyweight champ. The opener at 8:30 p. m., will find Benny Trudell facing Balk Estes.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Expect to hear more about a national sales tax. There are many unverified reports circulating.

Probably group able to hire press agents, is trying to sell government a national sales tax. The idea will be presented publicly as means of reducing income taxes. It will sound plausible at first blush.

Actually, graduated income tax reduction coupled with national sales tax will but increase tax burden on lower income groups, relieve higher income groups.

Many states adopted sales tax as means of forcing non-property owners to pay share of government. Yet in many states not only have real estate taxes increased, but also state income tax and sales tax rates have jumped.

Taxation history proves once politicians open a new revenue source, they find reasons why the additional money should be spent. And seemingly, no tax is ever repealed. As example, a tax was placed on baby oils and talcum as a wartime measure. Today, almost eight years since V-J Day, health needs of nation's babies are still taxed.

And since 1945, U. S. taxpayers have supported monopoly controlled economies of Europe. And the end is nowhere in sight, as whenever a move is made to cut foreign aid, the cry is raised that such action will mean the ruin of the Western world.

But the question is being asked more and more in Washington: "Why cannot the Western world, a United Front of nations, still considered the "free world" exist without bleeding the American taxpayer?"

Is the Western world free, or is it possible U. S. decides itself in thinking of any other major nation as free.

Support for this reasoning was given in French Assembly by Paul Reynaud, one time Premier in what many in Washington consider one of major foreign speeches of this era.

Reynaud said that since 1929 American industrial production has doubled. Britain's has increased 54%, Holland's 52%, while French production has increased only 8%.

He gave his reasons, saying:

"We are a country where many people want to keep the profits of the capitalist regime without respecting its laws, of which the first one is 'free competition'. These people allow neither external nor internal competition. Agreements result in the fixing of sales prices according to the production costs of the most backward enterprises."

A significant statement.

In current fiscal year, U. S. taxpayers have donated over a half billion dollars to France, of which a large share went to development of French colonies.

This is also significant. France has rich colonies but no anti-trust laws outlawing monopolies.

America has no colonies, but does have anti-trust laws, then has been able to donate billions to monopoly ridden nations.

Thus many are saying that any nation seeking U. S. aid should be forced first to adopt and enforce anti-trust laws.

Money poured down a rathole still leaves a rathole.

Weather Prophets?

The cheerful songs of tree frogs are heard most often during damp weather and before a storm. Thus they have been given an undeserved reputation as weather prophets, but really it is only because they are attuned to life by unusual moisture in the air.

SHORT STORY

Without Excitement

By Bessie Locke

WELL, she had spent her two weeks in Florida and now she was on her way home. And, other than a good tan, she had nothing to show for her expensive vacation. She had eaten hamburgers and soup for a year so she could have these two weeks but she was returning home without finding excitement on her vacation. Not one unusual thing had happened.

Atmosphere in the club car was a little smokey and anything but quiet, so Susan and her mystery novel decided to move back up the train to her seat. She passed through the club car and the two beyond. Her seat was in the fourth car from the end.

As she opened the door to the little space between the cars, she saw the whole thing. The outside door of the speeding train was open and, framed against the black night and the fleeting countryside, was a man with his back to the door. Terror was written in every line of his white face. Two feet away from him, with his back to Susan, was another man in a gray overcoat and gray hat. She saw his hands move swiftly and the white-faced man screamed as he toppled backward out the door, his hands clutching at nothing. One moment he was there, the next he was swallowed up in a black pit.

Susan gasped, unable to scream, just as the wind whipped the connecting door shut in her face. Only a second before the door slammed, the man had turned to see her. He knew she had seen him murder a man.

She fled back down the aisle toward the club car, unable to speak. Half-way to the next car she glanced over her shoulder. The door opened and the man in gray started down the aisle after her. With high heels and the swaying of the train, running was almost impossible.

Somewhere down in her throat, her voice had stuck. She couldn't utter a sound or cry for help. She could just run, while the other passengers hardly took notice.

He was right behind her as she reached the door to the next car. His hand closed over hers on the door knob. They were alone in the tiny space connecting the two cars and the roar of the train would drown any sound she could make even if she could find her voice.

Her heart pounded so hard that she could feel it in her ears and at the base of her throat, choking her. His hand was like a vice as he moved hers from the knob. She jerked around, facing him; seeing his face like a mask, his eyes expressionless, his thin lips drawn back from white teeth.

She had known what he would do even before he jerked open the outside door, but fear had rooted her to the spot. She knew how the white-faced man must have felt before he fell backward into space.

With his hands on her shoulders, he moved her backward toward the open door without speaking a word. Terrified, she found her voice at last and screamed. Her hand found and clutched the edge of the door as she heard a voice from somewhere.

"Let her go, Jackson."

The man spun around at the sound of the voice, lost his balance and fell toward the door dragging her with him. The rest was like a nightmare. Her grip on the door loosened and she was falling outward. She screamed again before she felt the hand on her arm pulling her back as the sleeve of her suit tore. The man in gray was still holding her sleeve as he fell.

She came to, sitting in the club car with people crowding around her, exclaiming over her. She picked one face from the crowd.

"I didn't die?"

"No, thank goodness. I caught you just in time. I'm Lieutenant Blake, Miami police. We've been chasing that guy and the one he pushed off the train for weeks. We won't be bothered with them again. I'll get you something to drink, then we'll go somewhere and I'll tell you about it, privately."

She'd never again complain of a vacation without excitement. And romance?—well, Lieutenant Blake was good-looking and, he told her, unattached.

Biggest Factor
In U. S. Future
Business Prospects

PITTSBURGH—The remarkable growth of the American population is the biggest single factor in the future of any business and the evaluation of future markets, a national advertising firm said in a recent report.

Among the facts on population trends in this country as pointed out by the agency are:

Abnormally low depression birth rates are beginning to have an effect; the marriage rate is dropping and will continue to drop until 1960, when it will rise again.

In 1950, there were five million men 20 to 24 years old in the labor pool; in 1955 the number in that bracket will have dropped to 4.75 million.

In 1950 fewer than 17,000 school buses were built; last year 24,000 were turned out and the number may be larger this year.

The U. S. population is increasing at the rate of 250,000 a month, which requires an increasing number of hospitals and other facilities.

The population will rise to 193 million in 1975, by conservative estimate.

While the declining marriage rate now threatens the record rate of home building that has continued since the end of the war, it will pick up in the late sixties and may soar to an average of 1.3 million a year or more by 1975.

The growth in population ahead, the report concedes, raises the question of whether there will be enough food for all the added millions. The needed crop land does not exist.

Farmers Face Many
Troubles in 1953

WASHINGTON—The Federal Crop Reporting Board says U. S. farmers will face a number of problems during the spring and summer of 1953.

Farm labor supplies continue tight because of continued competition of industry and the armed forces. Farm wages, consequently, continue relatively high. Further, there is no indication of a decline in farm production costs corresponding to drops in farm products prices.

Supplies of machinery, equipment and seed appear to be adequate, the board reports. Fertilizer supplies are larger than in previous years but supplies of some types are still not up to demand.

Weather conditions also will cause the farmer considerable trouble. Dust storms in some Great Plains area has already occurred and will continue for much of the year.

Inadequate moisture will continue to harass producers in some section of the central and southern Great Plains states.

Recent declines in prices of farm products which have attracted public attention is only one of the many factors in a confusing farm problem.

To top it all, the Agriculture Department has asked farmers to produce a volume of products equal to last year's record.

Colorado's Governor
Pays Off Election Bet

SALT LAKE CITY—Governor Dan Thornton recently paid off one of the most unusual election bets of the many thousands that were made last year.

He cleaned up the littered office of Utah's Governor J. Bracken Lee, who had messed up the place by scattering old ballots and sawdust.

The sweeping was the payoff of a bet between the governors on which state would have the best turnout at the general election. Utah won, leading the nation.

Governor Thornton donned the white uniform of a custodian, but kept his cowboy boots and Stetson hat. When the horseplay was over, he said that it was significant "that America still has its humor."

Governor Lee's office ordinarily is spotless. But not for Governor Thornton's arrival. Sawdust—and old ballots—were sprinkled around. Governor Lee posted a sign over his door: "Thornton swept here."

Surgeons Save Boy

Quick-thinking surgeons at a New Jersey hospital spilled bare electric wires from a lamp cord to a 12-year-old boy's head and, in so doing, saved the youngster's life.

The boy, who had just undergone a heart operation, suddenly developed an irregular convulsive beating of the heart. Ordinarily a shock machine would have been used to break the convulsive beat, but there was none in the room and no time to get one.

The surgeons grabbed an extension cord, scrapped the insulation from it and touched the wires to the throbbing heart muscle four times. The heart stopped beating.

Oxygen was supplied by a respirator and the heart was massaged until the beat returned—without the convulsion.

"Children learn to like some foods that have a strong flavor—onions, for example—but they usually prefer to eat only one strong-flavored food at a meal. Pay more? What for?

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

You don't have to pay costly-car prices for costly-car comforts.

Ford brings you everything [and we mean everything] you've ever wanted in a car, at a price that's well within your reach! And according to recent surveys, a Ford returns more of its original cost when sold than any other car at any price!

Here are a few of the "Worth More" advantages you'll find in the '53 Ford:

1. A V-8 engine—powerful and smooth!

Ford's famous high-compression V-8 is a leader in quiet, flexible, economical performance. Ford, remember, has built more V-8's than all other makers combined—over 15 million!

2. America's most economical Six engine!

If it's a Six you want, Ford offers you the high-compression, low-friction Mileage Maker . . . the engine which, with optional Overdrive, won over all other cars in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run!

3. America's finest and most versatile automatic drive!

Fordomatic Drive is the "automatic" which gives you both the get-up-and-go of automatic gears and the smoothness of a fluid torque converter.

4. Automatic gas savings!

Ford's Automatic Power Pilot (on Six and V-8) meters just the right amount of gas, times ignition precisely, burns fuel evenly and completely.

5. America's newest and finest power steering!

Ford's Master-Guide power steering gives you new ease, stability and safety in guiding your car on smooth roads or rough. Steering is up to 75% easier.

6. Largest choice of models in the low-price field!

Ford alone gives you a choice of 18 different models . . . a SIX or V-8 . . . Fordomatic, Conventional or Overdrive . . . the widest variety of body, color and upholstery combinations.

7. A body that's the style-setter!

Only Ford in its field gives you the advantages of a hull-tight Crestmark Body . . . the trend-maker in design and beauty. Ford's body is the longest and Ford's trunk, the largest.

8. New driving conveniences!

Ford's first in its field with "Worth More" features like . . . easier-acting, suspended pedals that eliminate floor holes . . . foam rubber cushions on front and rear seats in all models . . . and convenient Center-Fill Fueling.

9. An automatically controlled ride!

The wide front tread (widest in the low-price field) takes tilt out of turns . . . gives you a more level ride. With new "balanced suspension," new spring and shock absorber action and new rubber compression bumpers, road shock in the front end alone is reduced up to 80%.

10. It's worth more when you sell it!

An impartial survey of used car prices proved that Fords return a greater proportion of their original cost than any other cars in America.

But don't take our word for it. Stop in and Test Drive this Ford for yourself. We predict you'll be sold before you're in second! It was true last year and it's even truer this year: you can pay more, but you can't buy better than Ford.

WORTH MORE WHEN YOU BUY IT . . .

WORTH MORE WHEN YOU SELL IT . . .

SHORT STORY

Conscience

By Higby Weatherby

YOUR conscience is your greatest obstacle to getting what you want. I'm talking of conscience, my friend, with which one man alone faces himself—his conscience—and makes his own decision. Let me tell you about Dan Rogers, the mountain climber.

That's why one August day he landed at the base station at the foot of Mount Greystone. Greystone is 18,000 feet. A nice little climb.

He spent a week practicing on the lesser slopes, conditioning himself. Down at the lodge they liked him. He was that kind—good-natured, agreeable, fun-loving. But the fun-loving went out of him two days after his advent, though he pretended to be the same. The reason for the change was Gail Shore, wife of Ethan Shore, the guide Dan had hired.

Young Dan was probably the only man who ever saw into those depths. He was probably the only man who ever would. The first night he was there they looked at each other and looked away again quickly. Dan felt a tingling in his blood, a queerness, an emptiness. He couldn't explain it. Later he looked at the girl again and found her watching him. And suddenly he wanted to be serious; he felt older, curiously wise.

"It's something there's no use fighting against," he told her soberly. "It seems as though it's always been like this; it always will." Desperately he cried: "Why did you marry him?"

"Because," she told him softly. "I love him. I do now." And he understood. She did love Ethan, a tender, maternal love. "It isn't fair or honest. A man has his honor. Ethan's my friend. I'll not betray him."

But he did. He didn't let his conscience stand in the way. They held clandestine meetings every night.

"He needs me, Dan. He loves me."

The next day Dan and Ethan set out on their attempt to reach Greystone's summit.

At noon they stopped on a little ledge above the snow line and ate their lunch. By 1 o'clock they were well started again. The ascent was worse than Ethan had expected. Snow had fallen during the past weeks. Footholds were precarious.

Roped, employing their ice-picks, gaining inches at a time, mid-afternoon found them half-way up the glacier. On a tiny ledge Ethan paused to rest, and undid the rope. It would, he said, be easy from then on; they could make better time without the rope. He was standing at the moment on the rim of the ledge, the steep incline of the glacier behind him, and below that an 8000-foot drop. The wind was blowing hard. The ledge was narrow. Dan thought: "If I stood up and jostled him a little—just a tiny little bit—"

He broke off. Suddenly, unexpectedly, the snow beneath Ethan's feet gave way. It opened up and where there had been a moment before what seemed like a secure foothold—was nothing.

Leaning over as far as he dared, Dan watched Ethan speeding down the toboggan-like slide of the glacier at a terrific pace, at a pace that would catapult him far over the brim and out into the 8000-foot drop beneath. He caught his breath, involuntarily called out. And then suddenly he stopped breathing entirely. Ethan had managed to turn over on his stomach, to drive his ice-pick with his great strength into the sheer ice wall of the glacier. The break retarded his speed, stopped it, stopped it within 20 feet of the brink. Watching, Dan saw his friend's upturned face, saw him slip and slide a couple of feet more toward the brink, saw it happen twice more, knew that if he waited long enough he could watch Ethan disappear into eternity.

Dan had a rope. He could climb down the glacier. He could toss Ethan the rope's end and haul him up before it was too late. He knew this. He was sure of it. Yet he sat there, thinking of Gail, thinking how easy it would all be if he let Ethan go. He was alone, miles from anybody when he told his story later they would believe him.

T-V Channel 11 Fund Nears Half Way Mark Of $800,000 Goal

Achievement of the $800,000 goal needed to establish and maintain an educational, non-commercial television station for the Chicago area is fast becoming a reality, it was announced this week by the fund campaign officials.

Many community drives have been successfully completed. Still more communities are in the process of being organized with campaigns scheduled to be under way during the next few months.

To date, more than $350,000 has been contributed to the Channel 11 fund campaign, with $450,000 of the $800,000 still to be obtained. Of the amount contributed to date, slightly more than $110,000 has been donated through the Communities Division which comprises the communities within a 60-mile radius of Chicago. Approximately $240,000 has been realized from the Special Gifts Division, which includes gifts from Foundations, Corporations and Individuals.

Contributions to the Channel 11 fund campaign may be made directly to the local community chairman or by mailing to Channel 11 Headquarters, Box 1100, Chicago 90, Ill.

Scholarships Available For Applicants to Area Nurse Training Schools

A new $5,000 scholarship program for student nurses in this area was announced today by the Chicago Council on Community Nursing.

Established to increase enrollment in schools of nursing and to further nursing service in the community, the Lizzie K. Schermerhorn Scholarship Fund will provide grants to students who have been accepted for admission by state-approved schools of nursing in Cook, Lake and DuPage counties. Scholarship awards will be made on the basis of academic and personal qualifications, as well as need. Ranging from $25 to $300, the awards will cover tuition expense or other essential costs, such as fees, books and uniforms.

Applications must be made before July 15 to the director of the school of nursing where the student nurse has been accepted, according to Mrs. Hilda S. Neely, director of Nursing Services, Chicago Chapter, American Red Cross, who is serving as chairman of the Council's Scholarship Committee. Awards will become effective with the start of the fall nursing school term.

The scholarship fund was established by the W. Irving Schermerhorn estate, to be administered by the Chicago Council on Community Nursing.

Resigns Position

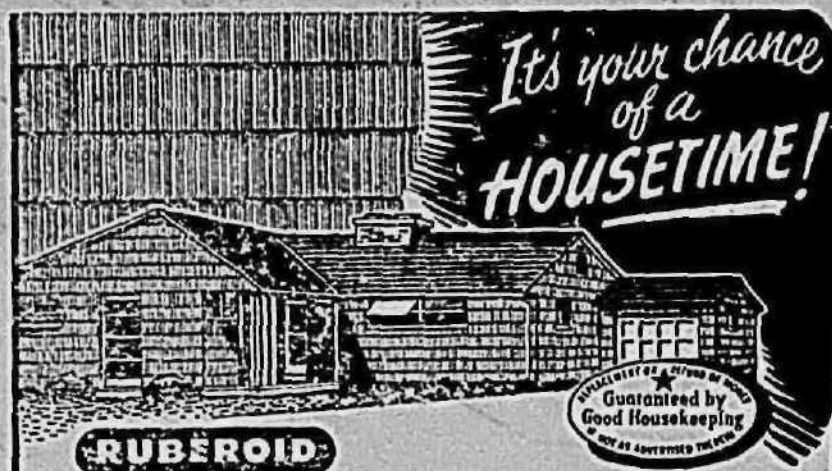

Mrs. Marian Brown, home economics instructor at the Antioch High school, has decided not to teach in this community next year. Mrs. Brown will move to Champaign to be with her husband who is attending the University of Illinois, where she intends to secure a teaching position. Mrs. Brown received her high school diploma from Wauconda in 1947. She attended the University of Illinois and graduated in 1951 with a bachelor of science degree. Prior to her year of teaching duties at Antioch, she taught one year at Orangeville, Ill.

Card of Thanks
